The most concrete result of the area's designation as an arts district lies in the state's tax code. Artists who live or work in Station North may qualify for certain tax breaks by filing Form 502AE (Subtraction For Income Derived Within An Arts and Entertainment District) along with their Maryland Tax Returns. Major tax benefits concerning building usage are also in place, with assessment freezes and building rehab credits to encourage growth. The Arts District designation in actuality benefits landlords and owners of real estate most; however these groups typically do not include performers, artists and musicians.
